PLAN TO DEFEAT

Republicans of Tenth District Renominate Congressman for Seventh Term.

SEVENTH WARD UNSEATED.

Resolution Adopted Ignoring Both the Dutzi and Becker Delegations With Hopes That It Serve as Precedent.

Congressman Richard Bartholdt was re nominated to represent the Tenth District in the Republican Convention which was held at Ciayton yesterday. The opposition to him melted away when the St, Louis County delegation stood with Bartholdt against any man whom his enemies could muster.

At the instigation of Otto Stifel and Congressman Bartholdt, the Seventh Ward was not represented in the convention owing to the use of Indians, the impersonation of a judge of election and the stealing of a bullot box. Both the Dutzi and Becker delegations were thrown out, as neither was considered to have clean hands. Incidentally, both the Dutzi and Becker delegations were about the maddest propositions in Clayton yesterday. The resolution of the Credentials Committee which prevented either delegation from having seats in the convention was as follows:

Tour Committee on Credentials report that, swing to conditions represented in the Seventh Ward context and their inshifts to place the responsibility definitely on the members of the delegations or their leaders. They recommend that neither delegation be accorded seats in the convention, and we trust that this action by nations or their season correct and the patients or their season and the rust that this action as convention, if adopted, will establish a convention, if adopted, will establish a convention in the future against illenities in all its elections.

OTTO STIFEL, Chitman.

Thought the convention of the convention of the convention of the convention.

Gligaed) OTTO STIFFEL, Chairman, Gligaed) OTTO STIFFEL, Chairman, Upon motion of Doctor Max Starkloff, who read the resolution, the convention adopted it unanimously, After making this play, the delegates slapped each other on the back and remarked, "How's that for politics? I guess we are not all fools." Congressman Bartholdt was a very mervous man until his nomination had been made sure by every ward seconding his nomination. His opponents were on the ground early and working hard. George W. Baumhoff and William Zachritz interviewed the delegates, but had hard siedding, Early in the morning it became evident that without the county—or at least seventeen of the delegates—there would be no chance to beat Eartholdt.

Bent that without the county—or at least seventieen of the delegates—there would be no chance to bear Sarthojdt.

So desperate did they become that they offered to nominate Prosecuting Attorney Roland P. Johnson for Congress, provided the necessary votes from the county could be secured. But all that could be mustered was twelve, leaving the opposition about five votes to be secured, provided that the Credentials Committee seated the Becker delegation in the Seventh Ward.

When the time came for nominations to be made, Bonhomme Tewnabip led off by giving way to Otto Siffel of the Ninetsenth Ward. He has managed the Bartholdt campaign, and in a abort, sensible speech placed his man in nomination for his seventh term. Every township and ward seconded the nomination, while the friends of Bartholdt, including many Federal officeholders, abouted for joy.

The other work of the convention passed off without incident, Fred Essen of the county and Election Commissioner Louis P. Alos were named district delegates to the Nations; Convention, with Theodore Heege of the county and Fred H. Smith of the Twenty-fourth Ward as alternates. Louis Ait declined a nomination as alternate. Harvey Feuerborn, City Committeeman of the Tenth Ward, was chosen elector without opposition.

Judge A. J. Shores of St. Louis County was chairman, Louis E. Kaltwasser of the Tenth Secretary, Louis Zepp of the Sixth assistant secretary, and Sam H. Wagner of the Eighth sergeant-a-tarms. These of ficers served both as temporary and permanent.

The couvertion was delayed because of

The convention was delayed because of the nonarrival of Patrick Regan of the Election Commissioners' office with the credentials of the delegates. He explained the delay after the noon recess by stat-ing that the trouble in the Seventh had prevented the Board of Election Commis-sioners preparing the papers in that con-test.

The delegates to the National Convention were instructed to vote for Roose-velt in a supplementary resolution writ-ten by Congressman Bartholdt. Cyrus Walbridge was indersed "to lead the hosts of Missouri for home rule and hon-est elections." The death of Hanna was deplored. The last Republican platform was reaffirmed.

FAVOR UNINSTRUCTED DELEGATION Douglas County, Ill., Democrats

Hold Primaries. REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Arcola, Il., March 19.-The Douglas

Arcola, I.l., March 19.—The Douglas County Democratic primaries were held to-dny and delegates chosen to the County Convention, which will be held next Tuesday.

The sentiment seems to favor sending an uninstructed delegation to the State Convention, though Hearst has some warm supporters here, and it is understood there will be an effort to force resolutions favoring his candidacy.

The Democratic papers of the county oppose instructions.

Charge Freely Made That They Have Made Alliance in Twenty-Second District.

OVERRIDE COMMITTEE.

To Unite Delegates to Defeat United Opposition of Hamlin, Sherman, Lowden and Warner.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Carbondale, Ill., March 13.—The result of the Republican primaries in Sa Clair and Washington counties in the Twentysecond, yesterday, has tended to bring the Yates and Deneen elements closer together in this Congressional District. Charges that the enemy of the "trust press" and the candidate of "the trust press" are in a combination in this State are generally believed.

In this county the Yates and Deneen leaders have become exceedingly friendly. It is almost a certainty that they will en-deavor to overthrow the action of the County Committee, which authorized Congressman Smith to name the State delegates. This cannot easily be done, for the call for the County Convention to select county officers specifies every duty for which the County Convention is called and the matter of naming State delegates is not mentioned. Even the phrase, "and such other business as may properly come such other business as may properly come before the said convention," is omitted. It will not be an easy matter to bring the subject up. In fact, it will be impossible as a legal proposition. But a small peg may be found upon which to hang an excuse for a contesting delegation to the State Convention. Jackson has ten votes in the State Convention and the managers of Congressman Smith say they will be divided between all the candidates; that Yates will have 2, Lowden 2, Deneen 2, Hamlin 2, Sherman 1 and Warner 1.

Dencen 2. Hamin 2. Sherman 1 and Warner 1.

TO SMASH SLATE.

At the congressional primary on April 2 it is settled that Smith will be chosen to succeed himself, and Carroll Moore of Benton will win the State Board of Equalization job over H. H. Kohn of Anna. This fractures the state put up last fall in Cairo and ratified at the meeting of the Senatorial Committee at Anna, but Kohn's friends explain his probable defeat with the statement that he does not want the nomination and only desired the defeat of "Six-Shooter" Edwards for the Legislature. There is still time for Kohn to take his name from the ticket, and he may do it.

The leaders are speculating on the position of the Twenty-fifth District delegates in the State Convention and the preferences of the member of the Committee on Credentials from the district.

YATES-DENEEN COMBINE.

YATES-DENEEN COMBINE. It is probable the district will be Refrigerators, heavy oak cabinets, lined with heavy galvanized iron against Governor Yates, but in a combination between Yates and Deneen a manation between Yates and Deneen a majority of the delegates are likely to be with the combination. There are fifty-seven State delgates from this district. A Yates-Deneen combination would likely have four from Jackson, eight from Alexander, two from Union, seven from Franklin, nine from Williamson and eight from Randolph. This is a total of thirty-eight—a safe majority. They could lose the seven from Franklin, which has not yet held its convention, and still control the district caucus.

This question has only recently obiruded yet held its convention, and still control the district caucus.

This question has only recently obtruded into the calculations of the anti-Yates leaders in this district. Of course, if Alexander, which has not yet called its convention, should be carried by the other side, the district would be lost. Judge Butler is a strong Deneen adherent in Alexander, while Senator Walter Warder and Trustee Woods of the Anna Hospital are looking after the interests of the Governor. At this time they are hostile, but it is expected that they will get together within the next ten days, call the County Convention in a hurry and send up a Yates-Deneen State delegation. The same combination might win in Franklin also.

The delegates and alternates to the National Convention will be chosen at the congressional primary. The two candidates receiving the most votes will be delegates. The candidates are: Charles O. Patier of Cairo, William O. Potter of Marion and C.R. Davis of Pinckneyville. Patier and Davis probably will be the delegates and Potter an alternate. The Congressional Committee will name the other alternate, and Frank Joyner of Carbondale is understood to be the man. Potter an different in the south and west ends of the district.

EFFINGHAM COMMITTEE MEETS. John Lantsch Elected Chairman of Democratic Organization. REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Effingham, Ill., March 19.-The Demoratic Central Committee of Effingham County met here this afternoon and organized by electing John Lastsch, Altament, chairman, and George T. Austin of Jackson Township secretary.

Jackson Township secretary.

After the committee had canvassed the returns of vesterday's primary the meeting was resolved into a mass convention which adopted resolutions indorsing the candidacy of William Randolph Hearst for President and Albert Watson of Mount Vernon for Attorney General of Illinois.

The following were selected delegates to the State Convention: David L. Wright, F. W. Loy, George M. Leerine, J. N. Groves, W. M. B. Wright, E. N. Rinehart and John A. Gladson.

There was a contention over the selection of members of the County Committee from Douglas Township. Two sets of committeemen had been selected by the township, and a contest was taken to the County Committee for settlement, and that committee's action did not meet the approval of some leading Democrats of this city, the committeemen who had been selected at an irregular convention having been given veste on the committee. selected at an irregular convention having been given seats on the committee.
